Find Moonshine In Auto of Man Held in County

LeRoy Berry, 37, East St. Louis, was picked up Monday afternoon on Route 142 a short distance north of Eldorado by county officers, who found five gallons of "moonshine" in his car.

Sheriff William T. Barrett said that he, with Deputies Charles Donelson and Everett N. Sneed, stopped Berry, driving an old automobile, for investigation and found five one-gallon jugs of illicit liquor in the automobile.

Berry was brought to Harrisburg and John Durako, Alcohol Tax Unit investigator from Metropolis, was called. Also summoned were two Alcohol Tax Unit men from East St. Louis, Harold M. Fimmer and Norman Moush, who questioned Berry and got a statement. Sheriff Barrett said Berry told them he bought the moonshine near Brookport for six dollars a gallon.

Barrett also said he learned that Berry is on a four-year probation, which would run out in February, for illegal possession of a still and possession of untaxed liquor.

The U. S. district attorney at East St. Louis was to be called today to see whether he wanted a charge filed against him before U. S. Commissioner Harry L. McCabe or whether the probation would be revoked without a new charge. Meanwhile Berry is in the county jail.

Later in the day Berry was arraigned before McCabe on a federal liquor charge, his bond was set at $3,000 and he was turned over to federal authorities to be taken to St. Louis.

Avoid Criticism, Stratton Tells GOP

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Stratton Monday night told Illinois Republicans here for a two-day "Pattern for Victory" conference to avoid criticism of President Eisenhower "who has given everything, almost his life, to make this fight for us."

National GOP Committee Chairman Meade ALCORN was scheduled to address the conference luncheon today, but illness interfered. In a speech prepared for delivery at the sessions, ALCORN criticized right-wing Republicans who bolt the party to vote for "conservative" Democrats.

Referring to a letter received from an Ohio GOP member, ALCORN described how dissatisfaction with a pronounced trend toward liberalism or modernism in the GOP had led the writer to vote for Democrat Gov. Frank Lausche in the Senatorial race.

ALCORN said the Ohio election cost the GOP control of the U. S. Senate, the majority leadership in the Senate, and the chairman-

R. R. Duty, 67, Dies At Thompsonville

Rodney R. Duty, 67, husband of Mrs. Georgia Duty, died in his Thompsonville home early today. The body is in the care of the Courtney funeral home in Galatia and will later be taken to the Charles Ruttenutter funeral home in St. Marys, W. Virginia, for interment. Mr. Duty was a resident of Thompsonville for 15 years and was an oil field worker. In addition to his wife he is survived by his sisters, Mrs. Josephine Cline of California and Mrs. Laura Hayes, W. Virginia, and his brother, Claude Duty, Owensboro, Ky. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

ships of all Senate committees. Stratton told the conference that evidence of lost confidence in the President among some Republicans was the greatest obstacle to a Republican victory in 1958.

He said Eisenhower "put our party back on its feet when we didn't have a thing nationally." The governor declared his support of administration policies to increase the budget "to meet the Russian threat" and to carry out public works programs "to keep employment up in certain areas."

He said Republicans during the campaign next year should remind voters that "we haven't had any wars under three Republican administrations in this century and we have had three wars under Democratic administrations." The President sent a message to the conference when it opened Monday to discuss the issues and lay the groundwork for the 1958 campaign.

The message said "to all Republicans at Peoria for their Pat-

Eisenhower Confers with Stevenson, Congress Leaders

Church Leader Warns of Actual State of Religion

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A top Protestant official said today America is ready for a religious revival but it hasn't had one yet.

Dr. Roswell P. Barnes, associate general secretary of the National Council of Churches, said Christians have no right to be "complacent" about the "widespread interest in religion" that has swelled U. S. church membership to an all-time high of more than 100 million.

Instead of basking in their own statistics, he said, churches should address themselves to the tremendous task of leading their new members beyond a vague "faith in faith" to genuine "obedience to God and acceptance of His proffered salvation through Jesus Christ."

In a major address before 2,000 delegates to the national council's triennial general assembly, Barnes cited many aspects of national life which prompt "humble reflection the actual state" of religion in America.

"The incidence of crime has reached a new high, the national divorce rate is a scandal and alcoholism and narcotics addiction have become a widespread menace to health and morals."

On an even deeper level, Barnes said, "the reaction of our nation to the Soviet's recent launching of satellites has been alarmingly revealing."

In "frenzied fear and jealousy" of the Russian scientific achievement, America has come "dangerously" close to throwing overboard its own "standards of value" and adopting the "materialistic" Communist belief that technological progress is the only thing of "fundamental importance."

A truly Christian people could face the "possible technical superiority of a challenging power" with a calm confidence that "our ultimate destiny is in the hands of God and that we are not the helpless children of historical circumstance."

Frank Gannett, Noted Publisher, Dies At Age 81

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Frank E. Gannett, who rose from a farm boy to a position of great prominence in the newspaper world, died at his home here today. He was 81.

At his bedside at the time of his death were his wife, Caroline, and his physician, Dr. John Williams.

"Death was due to complications resulting from a fall in 1955 and a subsequent stroke," Williams stated.

Funeral arrangements were expected to be private. The family requested that no flowers be sent. Gannett's daughter, Mrs. Charles Vincent McAdam Jr., Greenwich, Conn., and adopted son, Dixon Gannett, Dearborn, Mich., had returned to their respective homes during the past weekend when the publisher showed some improvement.

Gannett was president emeritus of the Gannett Co. Inc., one of the nation's largest newspaper organizations, at the time of his death.

The Gannett Co. controls 22 newspapers in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey and Illinois, four radio stations and three television outlets. The company currently is negotiating for the purchase of a fourth television station in Sacramento, Calif.

A native of Bristol, N. Y., and a Republican who once aspired to the presidency of the United States, Gannett started early in life to make a success of himself in business.

Born of poor parents in a drab farmhouse, a picture of which was used in his presidential campaign in 1940, he learned early the value of money. When only 9, he got his first job delivering newspapers.

Kerr Circulates Petitions for State Senate Race

Gordon E. Kerr of Brookport, who has represented this district in the Illinois House of Representatives for four two-year terms, is circulating petitions for state senator.

Mr. Kerr, a Republican representative from the 59th Representative district, is petitioning to run for state senator from the 51st Senatorial district, which comprises Saline, Hardin, Pope, Johnson and Massac counties.

In a letter to party workers, Rep. Kerr declared "I was considering being a candidate for Congress, but because of the passing of our good friend and great senator (the late Glen O. Jones) I feel that I must change my mind and plans."

His letter said "I have served four terms as your representative, I have seniority that will be of great help to our district in the senate, and most important I have worked close with Senator Jones. I know his honesty, his sincerity and the principles he stood for."

"I am now a candidate for the senate and if elected I will do the best I can to carry on Senator Jones' work."

$270.4 Million For Roads in '58

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. Stratton today announced a $270,400,000 road building program for Illinois in 1958.

Stratton told the annual meeting of the Associated General Contractors of Illinois the highway program for the calendar year of 1958 would include $161,100,000 on the interstate system and $109,300,000 for the state primary system.

In addition, he said, $3,500,000 in state funds will be available for county programs on the federal secondary system.

Of the $270,400,000 primary highway program, he said, $185,700,000 will be in federal funds and $84,700,000 in state money.

The governor pointed out that the actual highway program for 1958 includes projects costing more than the available $270,400,000. But he said this was done to "provide opportunities to place alternate work under contract should extended litigation on right of way, unforeseen delays in plan work or other factors delay parts of the program."

Farm Leaders Express Opinion Soil District Is Doing Fine Job

Attend Meeting With Directors, Planner and Aid

The Saline County Soil Conservation district is doing a good job. Keep it up.

That was the consensus of farm leaders who attended a dinner meeting last night at Santy's cafe.

The county district had called in the leaders to try to find out how the program was being received. The district directors and Tom Morgan, farm planner, also wanted to know just what the farmers wanted from the district and to suggest any changes in the program.

Nearly everybody present expressed the opinion that the district directors, Mr. Morgan and his conservation aide, Dallas Tucker, were doing a fine job.

Morgan Explains Work

A. A. Gholson of Rector town ship, chairman of the board of directors, presided. He called on Mr. Morgan, who said the purpose of the dinner meeting was to sit down and discuss the work in the district, with invited farmers advising the board what they felt the district should be doing for the greatest benefit to farm people of Saline county.

Mr. Morgan, who pointed out that the services of the district are available to all land owners who apply in writing, said the Soil Conservation district is a unit in itself, formed by referendum of local people and directed and controlled by local directors elected by people in the district.

A first cousin of Hilda's, 21-year-old Teodoro Camilla Martel, is under arrest as the alleged father.

Camilla Martel lived in the same room with Hilda and her parents. The case recalled that of another Peruvian girl, Lina Medina, who was 6 1/2 years old when she gave birth to a son in 1930.

Outlines Plans For Meeting Space Challenge

Adlai Says President Wants Him to Attend NATO Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and his advisers laid before congressional leaders today proposals for helping the Western world meet Russia's space-age challenge.

These proposals called for increased foreign aid and defense spending, including more money for missiles; presidential authority to share nuclear weapons secrets with other countries; and other steps to strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who sat in on the first part of the White House meeting with key congressmen, said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission discussed new laws that may be necessary to implement "certain proposals that the administration intends to present in Paris."

He was referring to administration plans to inform its Allies at the NATO summit meeting in Paris, Dec. 16-18, that it will seek congressional approval for an exchange of nuclear weapons secrets. The President already has authority for swapping such information in other weapons fields. Build NATO Defenses

Stevenson told reporters on leaving the White House that the first 90 minutes of the meeting with congressional leaders were devoted to overall plans for beefing up NATO defenses.

Administration sources have said the United States at Paris also will call for establishment of American missile bases in Europe, creation of an atomic weapons stockpile under NATO control and closer political cooperation among NATO Allies.

Stevenson also said Eisenhower wants him to attend the Paris meeting as a member of the U. S. delegation. He said the President gave "no indication" whether he himself plans to attend, as he intended to do before suffering his mild stroke Nov. 25. The White House has left open the possibility that Eisenhower will go. The decision will be up to the President's doctors.

Stevenson, who has been serving as an adviser to Dulles on plans for the NATO conference, said the President "looked very well."

Stevenson Defers Decision

Today was the first time Eisenhower and his unsuccessful Democratic opponent for the presidency in 1952 and 1956, had met face to face since October, 1953.

Stevenson said he was deferring for a week or 10 days his decision on whether to join the U. S. delegation in Paris.

Stevenson and Dulles met privately with the President for about 10 minutes before the meeting with congressional leaders began, with Eisenhower presiding.

No Stalin

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT

As Russia's Communist party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, has moved steadily to purge or banish his rivals for absolute power, the world naturally has drawn parallels with the relentless climb of the late Joseph Stalin to full dictatorship.

But sober experts on the Soviet Union are raising major doubts that Khrushchev can in fact wield one-man power as Stalin did.

For one thing, he seems to lack the mental and physical makeup of the true dictator, for all his evident ruthlessness. Stalin presented to his enemies a forbidding mien that inevitably stirred fear. He seemed to keep himself in the grip of an iron discipline.

Khrushchev exhibits no such commanding authority. Too often he allows himself to be seen by key Soviet leaders and others for what he is—an aging peasant who likes to get drunk and horse around.

Both to Russians and to outsiders he must seem a volatile, unpredictable figure. In one breath he tells Americans "we will bury you." In the next he suggests a rocket duel with us to see who can fire a missile farthest.

Responsible elements in the Kremlin and other high councils, not eager to become involved in the inevitable mutual ruin of nuclear war, may see danger in the leadership of such a man.

But the big second point is that for all his brushing aside of rivals, Khrushchev is not really purging in the complete, or Stalinist way.

As NEA's Leon Dennen observes, he tends to lop off the top and leave the spreading tree beneath. Thus, though Marshal Zhukov is ousted, many in the Red Army who support him are still around.

The same can be said of his action against Malenkov, representing the bureaucratic-managerial class, and Molotov, representing the Soviet diplomatic corps. Many of the supporters still hold positions in the Soviet structure.

More than one expert says the bureaucrats and so-called technocrats now are the ruling class in Russia. Some note, too, that the intelligentsia, comprising writers, artists and the like, also looms larger than in Stalin's day.

The question is raised whether control of the Communist party is any longer sufficient to assure control of Russia, as it once did. Non-party groups have increasing weight and size.

Stalin used the secret police as a powerful weapon against all rivals, including the army. Khrushchev humbled the police when he crushed his first rival, Beria. So today the army, like other rising groups, is not so easily managed.

To batter down all this competing power would require a blood purge of unexampled proportions. Many doubt that Khrushchev will ever launch it. They question if he has the power, the temperament, the energy at 63, or the will to defy an outraged world opinion.

Today Khrushchev sits on top, true enough. But some of the casters seem to be missing from his throne chair, and it could topple as the milling forces around him push and shove.

"Call Yourself a Scientist?—You're Out of Uniform!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: U. S. Intelligence Has Highly Accurate Insight Of Russian Military Might; Red Air Force Surpasses Ours; Red Nuclear Power Has Caught Up With Ours.

WASHINGTON. — It may not be palatable for us to digest this, but the unquestioned, unpleasant truth is that Soviet Russia today is ahead of us in all phases of modern warfare, except atomic submarines.

In 12 short years, Russia has caught up with us in nuclear development and outstripped us in missile technology. If war came today, she would probably win. Russia has put us close to being a second-class military power.

The reader may well ask how such positive statements can be made regarding Russia's strength. The answer is that American intelligence has been excellent. Allen Dulles, younger brother of the secretary of state, has submitted report after report to the White House, giving the alarming facts. He has made some political mistakes, such as going wrong on the exit of Marshal Zhukov, but he has not made many.

It's already been revealed that from our radar bases in Turkey we have spotted every firing 3-700 miles inside Russia. From these and other outposts we can track any missile firing inside Russia. From cameras carried in giant balloons we have spotted other operations. The Russians, it will be recalled, complained about these balloons.

UNSUGARCOATED FACTS
From this, plus other authoritative sources, we have learned the following unsugarcoated facts about Russia's military might.

Nuclear Power—Russia, whose first A-bomb was exploded four years behind ours, today has practically caught up with us in nuclear fire power. Our stockpile is larger, but Russia has enough bombs to cripple this country.

We have reduced the H-bomb to a more compact warhead and designed a so-called "clean" bomb, relatively free from radioactive hazard. But less important than the compactness and size of the warhead is the fact that Russia definitely does have the hydrogen warhead. Russia has also improved the trigger mechanism of the bomb.

Russia is also known to be ahead of us in developing an atomic rocket capable of space flight.

Despite this, the administration is still refusing to spend $8 million that Congress has already appropriated for nuclear power rocket work. Newspaper headlines have announced to the contrary, but as of this writing, the headlines are not accurate.

Congress originally appropriated $25 million for nuclear rocket work for the fiscal year 1956. This was called "Project Rover." The administration, however, impounded $10 million of this amount, against the wishes of Congress. As a result, the Livermore radiation laboratory in California had to shut down.

In June 1956, Congress voted an additional $9.1 million for Project Rover; but the administration would spend only $1.1 million.

Last week Secretary of Defense McElroy authorized the Air Force to go full speed ahead with the project and the $10 million originally impounded was released for the construction of test facilities. However, the Budget Bureau, which operates directly under the White House and can overrule the secretary of defense, still won't release the remaining $8 million Secretary McElroy talked about.

Air Power—Numerically, the Soviet today has the world's largest air force. She has thousands more combat planes than we, and her factories are producing them faster. Our technical intelligence has made detailed examinations of several Red planes that have fallen into our hands, and these autopsies show Russian technology lagged behind us from 1945 until 1952. Since 1952, the Russians have equaled our best efforts in air weapons.

In planes that count, Russia has over 13,000 sleek modern jets assigned to combat units. Our total, counting both Air Force and Navy, adds up to less than 9,500 jets. The Russians have twice as many intercontinental jet bombers and swarms more jet fighters considered slightly superior to ours.

The Red Army—The massive Red Army is 10 times the size of ours. Its 175 divisions not only outclass our 17 divisions in manpower, but in firepower as well.

The Russian divisions are highly mobile, armed with rockets, and trained in atomic warfare. They are a match for our vaunted pentomic divisions, which likewise have been streamlined for atomic warfare.

The Red Army relies on helicopters and armored personnel carriers for mobility. It is equipped with fast-moving, self-propelled assault artillery and heavy tanks more rugged than ours.

Naval Power—The world doesn't seem to realize it, but in a few short years the Russian navy has jumped from a handful of ancient impotent vessels to the rank of 2nd in the world. It has put the famous British fleet in 3rd place.

In the Black Sea alone, Russia has a fleet of modern, heavy cruisers three times the size of the U. S. 6th Fleet, cruising only a few miles distant in the Mediterranean.

It is in submarines, however, that Russia has made its most awesome and dangerous progress. More details on this menace tomorrow.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

Iron rusts results from the combination of oxygen in the air with the exposed iron on the object which "collects" the rust. Every little molecule of rust contains a few tiny atoms of iron which have been severed from the original pure iron. There is a lot of oxygen around the iron and it is difficult to keep the iron and the oxygen from touching each other.

We sometimes say that the oxygen "eats" the iron and in a sense we are correct. In the same manner, temptation surrounds human beings and "eats" into our moral and spiritual solidity. Temptation combines with the surface desires of men to form sin. When this process starts, the soul loses some of its very existence. In time it is eaten to pieces.

Let us ally our souls with the presence of God so that we may not rust away spiritually from contact with ever-present temptation.

Tiny corners and openings inside a bureau or cabinet will be easy to clean if you coat them with thinned white shellac.

It takes a GIANT to feed a family of 170,500,000

Getting food to 170,500,000 people in over 49,500,000 U. S. households is a job of giant proportions. Yet the country's 401,000 grocery retailers, large and small, do it every day...and do it so effectively and in such volume, that we are the best fed people on earth.

Your local food store operator's never-ending search for new and better ways to fill your market basket is one reason why you enjoy the best, the freshest food possible at the lowest possible price.

It's also the reason why grocery retailers spend more money in newspapers than in any other advertising medium...well over $162,000,000 in 1956. They have Published in the interest of more effective advertising by The Daily Register found that the daily newspaper is the most effective and efficient way to keep you constantly informed of products and prices.

To satisfy a hunger for news of people, places and products, people buy over 58,000,000 brand new, freshly made copies of the daily newspaper every day. Because the newspaper is the natural, logical place for America to shop, it's the natural, logical place to advertise.

If you have anything to sell, make sure it's seen. More people will see it in the newspaper than anywhere else.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

General Assembly May Curb State Power to Fix Tax Multipliers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Many protests by counties of multipliers fixed by the State Revenue Department in determining assessed property valuations for tax purposes, some on the ground that it violates home rule in the field of local taxation, appears likely to prompt the next General Assembly (1959) to seek to place a curb on the Department's power.

A recent list of tentative and final 1957 equalization factors reveal that in some counties the multiplier is 15% higher this year than for a year ago. In 77 counties where the Department has issued a multiplier only three, Brown, Pope and Richland are shown without changes. In the other 74 there were increases. In Rock Island county it is contained a higher factor increased valuation by $50 million.

Principally responsible for the fixing of the multiplier for each county is State Revenue Director Richard J. Lyons, Libertyville. Others said to play important roles are Clifford E. Halpin, Springfield assistant to Lyons; E. L. Maynard, Chicago; and A. N. Nelson, the latter two supervisors in the property tax division; and Willard Ice, Springfield, supervisor of rules and regulations.

New Legislation Gov. William G. Stratton, responding to a protest from Rock Island about that county's 1957 multiplier boosting the county's assessed valuation, said "assessment figures in many counties do not take into consideration the full effect of rising prices. Therefore those figures must be revised to a more realistic level in order to provide sufficient revenue for operating expenses in many districts."

Stratton expressed confidence that recent legislation "will go a long way toward eliminating discrepancies in assessment procedures from township to township within each county. The revenue department's equalization procedures will then be more effective in bringing about uniformity through the state. There is no truth the Department is acting to preserve the school fund."

The new legislation referred to by Stratton and enacted into law this year but not effective until January 1, 1958, would set up multipliers at the township level rather than the present county level. It would require county boards of review to act as equalizing authorities in the townships within a county are equalized at the same level.

Favored Change Stratton favored the change in his inaugural address last January. He said it in connection with outlining a legislative program dealing with education. In discussing that part of the state school aid program which is based on flat grants and "the other part which is supposedly based on need (in other words inability to pay locally," the Governor said further: "However when the need formula is used as an excuse by some communities and their officials to shirk their duties then a fraud has been committed against the taxpayers. I (therefore) concur in the recommendation of the School Problems Commission that the State equalize assessments by applying multipliers to townships rather than to counties."

Maurice W. Scott, Springfield, executive secretary of the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, says that the State Revenue Department has had the duty of equalizing property tax assessments between counties since 1946. He described the methods by which the department arrives at determining what a county's multiplier should be, as follows: "The Department does it by considering properties which have changed hands within the last few years. The department is in each county checking their records in the county seat. They check the bona fide sales . . . not a sale to clear title, or as between heirs. This is because when a bona fide sale is actually checked, it gives an indication of value."

Constant check "Then that particular piece of property is also checked against its assessed figure in the records of the county and a ratio is computed. If the property sold for $9,000, and the county books show it is assessed at $3,000, that is put down as a one-third debasement ratio figure for that particular piece of property."

"Constantly checking day by day in any county of the books gives a comparative figure by which property is changing hands in a county as it relates to the assessed figure which has been put on that piece of property. A large enough sample is generally found so that by the end of the year the average figure is obtained and the reciprocal of that figure is the multiplier sent to the county clerk."

"The figure sent to the clerk is to create the so called 100% figure. Then as prices fluctuate, as prices drop or increase, as the figure turned in by the assessor comes closer to the actual sale price or farther away from it, the ratio will change. The full 100% fair cash value, which is the hallmark of the law, is created by the sales which are actually taking place.

Three-Year Average

"In comparing sales values with local assessed values, it has been the practice of the Department to use a three-year average of county ratio as the equalization factor. For example, the 1957 equalization factors or multipliers are the result of an average process involving 1954, 55 and 56 sales data with the middle year being given double weight."

"This procedure is much simpler than the technique of estimating the sales prices which would have prevailed during the latest year on property actually transferred the previous year. The using of a three-year period for the determining of a multiplier is justified because of the market value in time of inflation."

"In other words the basis of arriving at a multiplier is upon the fair cash sales and appraisals of real estate in any given county. When this figure has been determined, it is returned to the county clerk. Let us assume the Department determines that the equalization factor for a county for the year 1957 is 4 (the assessment in such county on the average was only equivalent to 25% of sales value).

Hearings on Protests

"Then the county clerk will take the factor of 4 and multiply each one of the assessed figures (both real and personal) turned in by the assessor to raise the valuations to the so-called 100% assessed value. Where there are few sales in a county, the department resorts to appraisals to determine the ratio of assessment to market value."

As yet the Department has not responded favorably to requests that the multiplier, once made, be changed although it has held informal conferences and several hearings on protests. In one county it authorized a reduced valuation on oil production but did not change the factor. Counties making protests include Rock Island, Mercer, White, Knox, Coles, Williamson, Sangamon and Will.

Dear Santa: There Are Some Things the Gals Can Do Without

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Woman's Editor NEW YORK (AP) — Dear Santa: I've just gone through a stack of Christmas wish books THAT high. And I think it's only fair to report there are some things a girl can do without.

Like most women, I wouldn't say no to mink, in the form of say a coat or stole. But you can skip me when it comes to mink-trimmed clothes, pins, mink charms on can openers, mink-covered back scratchers, monogrammed bedroom slippers with mink trim, and foam rubber coasters with mink tails. Chinchilla's a nice fur, but I can get along without it in the form of a ski jacket at $550. Preferable, Santa, is a little Chinchilla evening wrap. The price is about the same.

Costume jewelry, if your tastes and mine are about the same. Or, something real, like that diamond earrings, ring and necklace combination I found in one catalog for $47.50.

If all else fails, how about a gift certificate, a cruise, or round-trip ticket to almost any place.

Come to think of it, Santa, what's wrong with money!

Again the Law It is very difficult to induce the American wild songbird to breed in captivity and most states have laws prohibiting the possession of wild birds anyway.

No Dinosaur, Please I don't want to sound ungrateful but I also can get along without a 12-foot stuffed dinosaur at $395, or dinosaur tracks at $12 to $45.

Go right past my stocking with such exotic goodies as baby bees and broiled sparrows. Just drop off a Smithfield ham.

My apartment is just fine without gimmicky dish and bar towels, novelty ash trays, silver telephone dialer, silver-based pin cushions, swizzle sticks with compass attachment, and household incense sprays in shocking pink cans with gold caps.

I spend enough time dish washing. Don't remind me of this with a bracelet charm of kitchen sink, with diamond drips of water, at $225. And I don't need an initialed gold toothpick at $10 or muff pistols with ivory handles, the pair for $175.

Suggestions for Santa

Frankly, Santa, if you want to make a hit with us girls, I'd offer these suggestions. It's a rare female who couldn't use another pair of white kid gloves—"shorties", unless she's a social gad-about who wears a lot of formal

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT . . ." seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time—not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

Teen-Age Boy Admits Strangling Girl, 14, Dumping Body in Pond

CHICAGO (UP)—A teen-age boy has told how, primed with vodka and orange juice, he strangled a 14-year-old girl in a "Lovers' Lane," then dumped her body in a pond, police said today.

Robert M. Fleig, 17, said he killed Mary Lou Wagner Friday night when she resisted his advances and threatened to tell their parents, police said.

The young girl's body was found Monday night floating in a pond west of Northfield, Ill.

Fleig, who had been questioned twice earlier in connection with Mary Lou's disappearance, broke down and confessed to the slaying minutes before he was to take a voluntary lie detector test.

Rogers Park Police Capt. Ralph Petacque said Fleig told him earlier that he and a companion, Robert O'Dowd, 22, had spent Friday night together drinking vodka and orange juice. Fleig said O'Dowd loaned him his car in which he kept a date with the Sullivan High School freshman, then drove her home.

He revised his story Monday night, recounting how he drove to a "Lovers' Lane" on Willow Road beyond the city limits and made improper advances, Petacque said.

The Wagner girl resisted him, Fleig said, and threatened to tell "my mother and your mother." Fleig, the son of a bakery owner, lives about 12 blocks from the Wagners.

After beating and choking her, Fleig said, he carried her partially disrobed body to a pond near the Glenview Naval Air Station and tumbled it into the water, according to police.

Clare Boothe Luce To Receive Annual Cordell Hull Award

NEW YORK (UP)—Clare Boothe Luce, playwright, onetime Congresswoman and former U. S. Ambassador to Italy, was named today as the recipient of the third annual Cordell Hull award for leadership in building U. S. foreign economic policy.

The award, to be presented at a public rally Dec. 10 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, is sponsored by the Committee on Foreign Trade Education, Inc. It commemorates former Secretary of State Cordell Hull who in 1934 introduced the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program, designed to expand this country's trade with other nations by the reciprocal reduction of high tariffs and other barriers.

Previous recipients of the award are Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Paul G. Hoffman, former administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration.

First Real Snow of Season Falls in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The first real snow of the season fell at Springfield and across the state in a narrow band from Quincy to Terre Haute, Ind., today.

The Weather Bureau said one inch of snow, wet and thick and quickly melting, fell here. The Weather Bureau said the snow did not extend very far north or south of Springfield, and it had no other measurable reports.

Widowed Mother and Daughter Quit State Jobs to Enter Convent

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—A widowed mother and her daughter have resigned their jobs with the state of Illinois to enter a Roman Catholic convent at Ottumwa, Iowa, in January.

Taking the "veil of the Congregation of the Humility of Mary will be Mrs. Tommie Myrene Morris, for 15 years an employee of the secretary of state, and her daughter, Grace, 41, a secretary in the office of superintendent of public instruction.

The convent they will join was hit by a 2½-million-dollar fire on Oct. 8.

Navy Vanguard Missile Ready For Big Shoot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—Navy technicians put the finishing touches today on a slender rocket carrying America's hopes to duplicate Russia's leap into space.

Everything was reported going according to plan for Wednesday's big shoot.

Latest information, all unofficial, was that the Navy's Vanguard missile might be fired at any hour or minute from 5 a. m. until dusk off lonely and windy Cape Canaveral.

Attempt To Duplicate Sputnik

The 72-foot-long, three-stage rocket will attempt to place a six-inch baby moon into orbit. It is a tiny thing compared to Russia's second, dog-bearing Sputnik, but it will send back a radio signal, if successfully orbited, to let the world know the United States has met the challenge.

The Vanguard test could be preceded today by the firing of a less spectacular missile, possibly a Snark, which is a long-range Ramjet device hugging the earth's atmosphere at a speed slightly below that of sound.

Sentenced to State Farm

Paul Matthews yesterday was sentenced to six months on the state farm at Joliet when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated upon arraignment before County Judge Trafton Dennis.

Coordination of Municipal Fund, S. S. Approved

In a referendum concluded November 25, employees covered by the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund approved a plan co-ordinating benefits of the Fund with Federal Social Security. A total of 23,175 employees voted for the coordination, while 4,493 voted against it. The Fund comprises 1750 Illinois local governmental bodies and provides retirement, death, disability, widow, orphans' benefits for about 32,000 municipal employees.

In another referendum employees covered by the Illinois Municipal Public Utility Employees' Annuity and Benefit Fund also approved coordination with Social Security. This Fund comprises about 500 Municipal Public Utility employees in Illinois. The vote was 417 for and 38 against coordination. Under a bill passed by the 70th General Assembly, the Utility Fund will be merged with the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund on December 1.

The referendums were held in accordance with proclamations of Governor William G. Stratton, who appointed the Board of Trustees of the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund as the agency to conduct the referendums. The election was supervised by the Honorable Edmund K. Jarecki, former Cook County judge.

Features of the Coordination Plan are:

1. No employee will receive less benefits in total from the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund and Social Security (based on IMRF earnings only) than he would be eligible to receive if coordination were not effective.
2. With few exceptions, employees will receive substantially higher total benefits than under the present plan.
3. The plan gives sufficient retroactive coverage to make social security survivor benefits immediately available, and in most instances to provide unreduced social security retirement benefits for older employees.
4. The total rate of contributions by employees remains the same as under the present law. The present rates will include the social security contribution percentage of the first $4,200 earnings.

Eisenhower Meets with Stevenson, Leaders

and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson—Texas Democrats—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland and House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, attended the conference. Besides Stevenson, Dulles, and Strauss, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy; Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks were among others present.

They rose and applauded when Eisenhower entered the room for the start of the meeting.

Would Swap Information

Administration sources had said in advance that the President and his "team" would outline to the congressional leaders a 39-40-billion-dollar defense budget, including more money for missiles, and a foreign aid request for next year of around four billion dollars, half a billion more than this year.

In seeking an exchange of atomic information with U. S. Allies, the President is not asking congressional authority to give nuclear weapons to other countries.

But he wants to swap information on such things as design, manufacture and composition of such weapons.

Present law, enacted in 1946, has, for instance, kept British and U. S. atomic scientists from pooling their discoveries. Authorities believe this has kept projects of both countries from developing as rapidly as they might have.

Tax Cut Doubtful

Martin predicted in advance of today's meeting that overall government spending for the fiscal year starting next July 1 will run ahead of this year's peacetime record of about 72 billion dollars as a result of higher defense spending. Martin and Rayburn agreed a defense budget increase is almost certain and that as a consequence hopes for a tax cut next year are about dead.

Meany to Oppose Proposal to Hold Line on Building Wages

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany today readied a challenge to a proposal to hold the line next year on wages of millions of construction, steel and other workers.

Meany, briefed by AFL-CIO economists, was prepared to argue that high wages for union members benefited the entire nation and bolstered the economy.

The surprising suggestion for a moratorium on pay boosts came from Richard J. Gray, president of the Building Trades Department of the AFL-CIO.

The moratorium question posed an unexpected problem for Meany, who was busy attempting to line up support for expulsion of the Teamsters Union on corruption charges.

Gray also urged the building trades unions to vote against ousting the Teamsters. He said it would be "un-American" to expel the Teamsters on "unproven charges."

Gray said that if the building trades unions avoided demands for wage boosts next year they would help halt the rise in the cost of living and assure more jobs for their members.

The construction industry, he said, was hard-hit by the administration's tight-money policy and this led to unemployment of union craftsmen.

Meany's answer to Gray's plan was expected to come in appearance before the union label or maritime trades departmental conventions.

The AFL-CIO president also planned to address the building trades group this afternoon but his aides said he planned to tackle its jurisdictional complaints at that time.

Resolutions calling for secession from the AFL-CIO are before the Building Trades convention but there is little chance of their passage, informed sources said.

The building unions are angry because Meany refused to take their side in a dispute with industrial unions over job rights in factory additions and alterations.

But few leaders of building trades unions showed enthusiasm for the wage boost moratorium.

Painters President L. M. Raftery called it "taking bread and butter away from building tradesmen." Carpenters chief M. A. Hutcheson and electricians' President Gordon Freeman pointed out many labor contracts include automatic wage hikes in 1958.

Bricklayers' boss Harry C. Bates favored it "if we have a continuance of the tight money." Plumbers President Peter Schoemann and lathers' leader Lloyd A. Mashburn agreed with Gray but excluded areas where "substandard" wages are paid.

Taken to State Farm

Pro Grid League Adopts Players' Demands; Make Draft Selections

PHILADELPHIA — The National Football League, with a gentle nudge from Congress, had all of the demands of the league players' Association in its books today ahead of the deadline of a $4,200,000 suit threatened by the players' counsel.

The concessions included a $5,000 minimum salary for players selected from the college rolls, payment of $50 for exhibition games and an injury clause in the contract protecting players hurt in the performance of their services.

Commissioner Bert Bell, who made the recommendations and who announced that the league owners adopted them unanimously, admitted freely they grew from suggestions made by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) and members of Celler's Congressional committee.

The owners will toe the line so gently that beginning next year, the "draw from the hat" for the bonus choice will be dropped on the premise it smacks too much of a lottery.

Bell will recommend at the midwinter meeting that the low end team percentage standings get the free pick, and that system will be continued each year marked by the systematic elimination from the percentage list any team which had the bonus choice.

Creighton Miller, counsel for the players, had no comment when told in Cleveland that the player demands had been met.

The Chicago Cardinals, the last of the 12 teams to get the "draw from the hat" bonus, and the low end team percentage-wise, took King Hill of Rice, the 210-pound, jack-of-all-trades quarterback, as its bonus pick.

Here is the player selection list by teams the first four rounds of the draft completed today. The remaining 26 selections by the league teams will be made at the NFL mid-winter meeting.

Because of earlier trades of draft choices, not all teams selected the same number of players today.

The list:

Bryant Quits Texas A&M for Alabama Post

COLLEGE STATION, Texas — Paul (Bear) Bryant, resigned his $15,000-a-year post as head coach at Texas A&M Monday to go back to his alma mater, the University of Alabama, and take over the job of rebuilding its football fortunes.

Bryant, a tall, stern football taskmaster who pulled the Aggies up from the Southwest Conference cellar to national ranking in four years, became the second coach to leave a Southwest Conference team since the end of the season. Only last week personable Jack Mitchell of Arkansas resigned to take over as head coach at Kansas.

President T. M. Harrington of A&M announced the school would release Bryant from the final seven years of his 10-year contract "with regret," but no official word on the hiring of Bryant has come from Alabama as of yet.

Alabama President Dr. Frank A. Rose said at Lexington, Ky., that Bryant's announcement came as a surprise to him.

He said he hoped to talk to Bryant sometime late Monday night or early today about succeeding Alabama coach J. B. (Bear) Whitworth.

Bryant's request for release from his contract asked that it be effective Jan. 1, 1958, four days after he leads the Aggies for the final time in their Gator Bowl clash against Tennessee.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Included on the McKendree College varsity basketball squad are players from Centralia, West Frankfort and Crab Orchard and the coach is a Centralia native.

Probably the best known to fans of this immediate area is Don Proctor, who made a lot of friends and followers while playing with the Crab Orchard high school team.

Proctor just about tore up the Equality Invitational tourney a few years ago with his speed, ball handling and jump shooting. Only 5-9, he hustles all the time and is starting his third year with the McKendree squad.

Others from Little Egypt on the McKendree roster are Ward Iann of West Frankfort and Bill Fester of Centralia.

The new athletic director and head basketball coach is James D. "Barney" Oldfield.

Oldfield, Centralia high school and SIU graduate, with a Masters degree from U. of Illinois, came to McKendree this fall from Davenport, Iowa, where he coached the high school sophomore team. He also has had considerable coaching experience with the U. S. Army teams.
